

Post 2 Crochet Care Tips

CAPTION:

Stop throwing your crochet pieces in the washing machine!

Handmade items need a little extra love to keep them looking brand new. The rough spin of a washing machine can stretch the stitches, ruin the shape, and cause fuzzy pilling.

Here is a quick, 3-step guide to hand-washing and air-drying your delicate yarn pieces safely:

1. Soak gently:

Use cool water and a splash of mild soap. Squeeze softly, never scrub!

2. The towel roll:

Roll your piece inside a clean towel like a burrito to press out extra water. Never wring it out!

3. Shape & air dry:

Lay it completely flat on a fresh towel. Never hang it up, or the weight will stretch it out of shape.

Save this post so you remember how to clean your favorite crochet pieces next time! ✨

STEP 1: FILL & SOAK

Fill a clean sink with cool water. Add a few drops of mild soap. Gently squeeze your item in the water. Do not scrub or wring it. Let it soak for 15 minutes.

STEP 2: REMOVE WATER

Rinse well with clean, cool water. Lay the item flat on a dry towel. Roll the towel up with the item inside. Press down gently to absorb extra water.

Never wring or twist your crochet!

STEP 3: SHAPE & DRY

Unroll the towel and take out your item. Lay it flat on a fresh, dry towel. Gently push it back into its original shape. Let it air dry completely. Never hang it up (hanging stretches the yarn).
